

COMPREHENSIVE DESK-BASED RISK MANAGEMENT ASSESSMENT

FOR SERVICE PROVIDERS AND ALLIED HEALTH INSUREDS

For these unprecedented times, Pendulum is providing a new service based on our on-location Professional Liability Risk Assessment. The Comprehensive Desk-based Risk Management Assessment for service providers and allied health insureds is now available!

Pendulum's desk-based assessment is an effective tool to help service providers and allied health insureds evaluate and identify areas of professional and general liability risk.

For this desk-based assessment, a Pendulum risk control consultant works with the provider in scheduling phone interviews with key leadership and staff. These calls can be scheduled at different times for the individual team members.

In advance of the desk-based assessment, the provider provides documents as requested by the risk control consultant for review and for discussion during the call. These documents include, but are not limited to:

- Organization protocols
- Policies and procedures
- Orientation and training records
- Quality, safety, and risk management practices

A virtual tour may also be scheduled with the remote risk control consultant utilizing FaceTime, Google Duo, or other application.

Within 10 business days of the assessment, the provider will receive a written report that includes all of the consultant's findings and, if needed, valuable risk control recommendations.

The provider will also receive access to an online risk management resource center where they can find tools to address the recommendations made by the consultant during the assessment.
